HOW IT STARTED

In the spring of 2003, three young filmmakers traveled to Africa in search of a story. What started out as a filmmaking adventure transformed into much more when these boys from Southern California discovered a tragedy that disgusted and inspired them—a tragedy where children are both the weapons and the victims.

After returning to the States, they created the documentary “Invisible Children: Rough Cut,” a film that exposes the tragic realities of northern Uganda’s night commuters and child soldiers.

The film was originally shown to friends and family, but has now been seen by millions of people. The overwhelming response has been, “How can I help?” To answer this question, the non-profit Invisible Children, Inc. was created, giving compassionate individuals an effective way to respond to the situation.

HOW YOU CAN HELP

-Have a screening: Show the documentary to your friends and family, or contact the Invisible Children office to find out how to bring the tour to your world.

-Buy a bracelet: Invisible Children’s bracelet program is the easiest way to start making a difference. The bracelets not only provide jobs for people in Uganda but also put children through school.

-Join Schools for Schools: Connect your school to a school in northern Uganda to directly make a difference. Go to s4s.invisiblechildren.com.

-Use your time, talent and money to make a difference: Educate yourself on the history of the war and what’s going on now. Think of creative ideas to raise money for the invisible children - check out our website for some suggestions.
